The situation of Covid 19 and the pandemic situation in the country and around the world is taken into account, it radically changed the work of state institutions, the educational process and all activities related to the creative and educational activities of the schools, members of SUPRIM. The restrictions that have been imposed and the work online have opened up the possibilities of a new type of digital product related to the concert performance of musical formations. Numerous digital products have been created and now schools can participate in various prestigious forums at home and abroad: competitions, joining of European projects, K1, K2, etc.

Most schools focused their efforts on creating innovations - classes with holistic orientation or to let's put it simply.. focus at the primary and secondary classes, which enable music art to be the backbone of education in terms of cross-curricular activities as a priority.

This process is also observed in the world achievements and practices in this field - Italy, Germany, the Netherlands, Great Britain, the United States, Venezuela, Brazil, Australia, etc., promoted the introduction of the system "Montessori", "Waldorf system", "Musical theater", " Studying nature through music" as platforms for education and development of adolescents in terms of value system and their spiritual development.

May 24th, the day of Bulgarian script and literature and Slavic culture in the Republic of Bulgaria, turned into a big virtual concert in which all schools of SUPRIM participated. The same was uploaded on the schools' online platforms and social networks. This event initiated shared practices on social media of various performances of our schools and students. The networking did not stop, it became more visible because everyone was eager to show the successes and joyful moments of their students. Each of us is happy and proud to show what our students and children have accomplished, the awards they have received, how they have fought the competition, and how necessary music and art are and everyone's right to experience them.

Some of SUPRIM's member schools have Innovative Schools status and show how innovation in the arts can be innovation in education, and STEM has its place and importance in the intellectual and emotional development of our talented children. By abbreviation, STEM and by content, the arts (A) have not yet found a place in the norms of educational governance and this is the next step for the association.

On the initiative of the Ministry of Education and Science was held a workshop, online, at which the higher and secondary schools of Arts, with the focus "Students from schools with a music profile, future students of higher education".

The European standards in music, the educational curricula and the system of music education in the schools of Europe are some of the topics addressed by a working group of directors - members of the association in the Republic of Bulgaria.

The meetings announced in the online space of the European Music Schools are regularly attended by members of SUPRIM in R. Bulgaria, we are informed about the new developments in the European schools are and share our achievements, problems and progress. We followed with interest the 45th and 46th General Assemblies, which were also held remotely, and reported on the results of the past year. In spite of the pandemic, in spite of the physical limitations, life goes on and we must go on with the same enthusiasm, preserving ourselves as a people, as a nation, as musicians.

A particular success of our association was the approved financial statement by the Ministry of Education and Science, supporting the extended music education in grades 1 - 7, which came into force in the calendar year 2020. The standard cost per pupil enrolled in an advanced music class has increased, which has significantly improved the financial framework of devolved school budgets and enabled governing bodies to plan and develop these types of classes, which are at the heart of specialised secondary music education.

Contacts and specific work are carried out throughout the year with the Higher Schools of Music for basic activities and professional consultation, in implementation of the signed cooperation agreements of SUPRIM with them. Assen Diamandiev ,Plovdiv, NATIONAL MUSIC ACADEMY "prof. Pancho Vladigerov", SHUMEN UNIVERSITY, SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY, Blagoevgrad, SOFIA UNIVERSITY "Sv. Kliment Ohridski, Sofia, Veliko Tarnovo University.

Some people say that we are stagnating, that we have implemented very few activities, but it seems so only on the surface. If we take a look at our online events, our hard work and our online successes, we will have an answer to everything we have accomplished in this difficult year for all of us.
